

THE MOHAVE MINER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY.

Published every Saturday by the MINER PUBLISHING CO.
HARVEY HUBBS, Sec. and Treas.
ANSON H. SMITH, Ed. and Manager.

To whom it may concern: Notice is hereby given that the MOHAVE COUNTY MINER will not be responsible for any individual debts contracted by parties heretofore or hereafter connected with this paper.

ANSON H. SMITH,
Manager.

Shanklin, the Tombstone murderer, was sentenced to ten years in the Territorial prison.

The Prince of Wales will apologize to Parliament for having gambled with a better gambler than himself.

The Chilian insurgents are asking for recognition by the United States, and we see no reason why it should not be given.

The Queen has signed the bill for a close season in Bering sea pending the settlement of the question with Uncle Sam.

The Coconino Sun, from its appearance, looks as though its horizon was overcast with clouds or some other murky substance.

The glove contest between Jake Kilrain and Slavine resulted in favor of the latter, Kilrain being knocked out in the ninth round.

The Florence Enterprise is one of the most readable papers published in the territory, and should have a large subscription list in every county.

More capital is being invested in irrigating schemes in Arizona than ever before in its history, but all these enterprises are confined to southern Arizona.

Col. R. J. Hinton, author of Hinton's Handbook of Arizo, has been taking in the sights of Salt River valley and at the same time compiling statistics for the agricultural department of the census bureau.

The Santa Fe extension to Phenix now seems to be an assured fact, as surveyors are in the field surveying the route from Ash Fork to Prescott. Phenix people are jubilant over the prospect of an outlet to the north.

The Prescott Courier has caught on to a middle-aged word, bearing the title of "lanthorn." If anyone will please tell us what it is we will properly label it and place it on exhibition among the curios at the World's Fair.

Yuma has been shipping ripe figs to San Francisco for a month past, which sell at the rate of seventy-five cents a pound. Yuma will soon be able to produce fruits in large quantities from one to three weeks earlier than they can be produced in California.

We would like to see the land in and around the old town of Hardyville, on the Colorado river, under cultivation. A floating wheel could be put in the river at that point and large pumps attached, with enough capacity to irrigate at least a thousand acres. Oranges, lemons, grapes, figs, and, in fact, almost anything could be grown there. All it needs is a trial to convince the most skeptical of the feasibility of this project.

The decision of the Supreme Court of California settling as unconstitutional the purchase of mining shares on a margin is quite a blow to the mining stock business on Pine street, and the brokers are now conferring with counsel to get a clear understanding of the meaning of the decision. If as broad as it appears, it will interfere greatly with mining stock sales; and if on general application, must affect speculative sales in other branches of business as well.—Mining and Scientific Press.

Our people need to be taught the great advantage to be derived by the admission of Arizona as a state. A state government will probably cost thirty thousand dollars more than under the present form. At the same time our taxable property will be increased in many ways. A new north and south railroad will open up a new section of country and at the same time give the farmers of the great Salt River valley a market for their products in northern Arizona; new irrigating schemes are under way; new mines are being opened up, and our territory is on the high road to prosperity.

The trial of William Doheney, for the murder of his father, is in progress in Phenix.

Geronimo, the noted Mexican desperado, was killed in Cochise county a few days ago. He was wanted for various murders and robberies committed in Mexico and this Territory.

Joseph Stephens, of Prescott, was accidentally shot in the back a few days ago by Johnny Behan. The shooting was done while the parties were riding in a wagon near the Lee ranch, this side of Prescott. The wound is not thought to be dangerous.

Curio from from the New Mexican: "The season being later than usual this year, it was thought there would be a scarcity of water, but the ladies of Santa Fe are always equal to any emergency, and the floral decorations are both plentiful and handsome."

Daniel Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors has received the report of the Territorial board of equalization. The board has set the rate for the Atlantic & Pacific at $5,000 per mile as asked for by our officials and citizens. This is a just and equitable rate and one upon which the railroad company will willingly pay.

There are a great many complaints from the old irrigated farms of Colorado that the alkali in the water is gradually killing out the soil. This will never be the case with the lands in this section as the water from the mountain ranges carry little, if any, alkali, and the lands very little of the salty material, so that it would take hundreds of years for them to become worn out and unfit for agriculture.

A Silver Cliff, Colo., dispatch of June 16 says: At a depth of 1,300 feet the Geyser mine has struck the most favorable indications. When the shots were fired yesterday at 4 o'clock a well defined lead one and a half feet wide was opened. This lead is between two solid walls and is filled with silver steel, in what is here called bastard quartz. No assays have yet been made and the local management refuse to talk, but they are the happiest-looking people seen here for years.

The senior pill-mixer of the Needles Bull's Eye is rather sensitive on the subject of gush, having taken exception to our comment on the gushing article of the Kingman correspondent in that would-be leader of public opinion, that he must forsooth, call us an ass. Now, for the benefit of the venerable pill-mixer, we will state that we never had the least idea he wrote the letters from this place, for the simple reason that he lacked the ability, as it is a well known fact that all the nourishment his poor, antiquated brain receives is nursed from the head of his dude cane.

A large New York dealer in silver in an interview says: The announcement of a meeting of free coinage advocates Wednesday is full of meaning. The men who succeeded so far in bringing about the present coinage of silver believe free coinage a necessity, and that it can be brought about at the next session. The incoming House will be composed of more free-coinage men than the last one. The Senate is already for free coinage. The real battle will be with the President. In about five or six weeks in his will begin to buy silver. The continent is already buying, notably Spain and Portugal. Most of the silver which went out last week was for Portugal.
